Product Description

Following the theme explored on the Utopia table, the Arches dining chair recreates the design of its arches crossed on different levels. Suggesting the complexity of utopian cities, organized by the principles of symmetry and ideal forms, the chair profile shows details that seem to be drawn from large architectural structures. The raised backrest stands out from the remaining set that only crosses in a single point, whereas a folded brass bar arises as a support element that prevents the contact of the arches with the floor. Introduced in 2019. Handmade in Portugal.
