Product Description

The challenge was to translate the lightness of washi paper used in oriental lanterns into a group of glass lights. A series of suspension lamps all concentrated on the diffuser and defined by the volume and material nature of glass. A collection of three diffuser shapes in hand-blown glass made using a glass-blowing procedure without turning the glass in the mould (referred to as “stationary”); the striped effect is achieved using a mould with negative decorations which are repeated across the surface of the glass, which is subsequently ground manually “by belt” and which then undergoes immersion in acid in order to emphasize the plaster-like effect. Each one has a different function and position. In a composition they form a single, luminous object for a large space or relaxation area. The lighting collection includes suspension, wall, table and ceiling versions. UL listed. Quick Ship available. Made in Italy.
